Bug hotel

What you will need

A container to fill with natural material — a wooden box, an empty tin, an old plant pot, a piece of hollow wood, a cardboard tube, or a section of a plastic bottle.

Lots of twigs, leaves, seed pods, bark, pine cones, gum nuts, dried flowers — anything natural you might find in your garden or while out walking.

What to do

Squeeze as much natural material as you can into the container — make sure to create lots of nooks and crannies.

If you cannot find a container, you could also tie together a bunch of twigs and leaves to make the bug hotel.

Your hotel is now ready to place in the garden. Will you hang it from a branch, tuck it into the crook of a tree or place it in the corner of your garden?

I wonder who will move into your bug hotel? Share your bug hotels with us.
